

Steve Watson is a Professor of Cardiovascular Sciences, Head of the Birmingham Platelet Group in the University of Birmingham and Coen Hemker Visiting Chair in CARIM in the University of Maastricht. He uses advanced microscopy and omic technology to study platelet glycoprotein receptors and their signalling pathways with the goal of developing a new class of antiplatelet drug for thrombo-inflammation.